

ST ANTONY'S COLLEGE

Russian and Eurasian Studies Centre
St Antony's College, Oxford OX2 6JF
EMAIL mihoko.kato@sant.ox.ac.uk

Origins, Emergence and Development of Russia's Multilateralism in the Asia-Pacific Region (1986 – 2012)

Dahrendorf Room at St. Antony's College, Oxford

Wednesday 8 February 2012

9:30 – 10:00 Coffee

10:00 – 12:30 Session 1: The Role of Multilateralism in Russia's Foreign Policy toward the Asia-Pacific Region (1986 – 2012)

Panel Chair: Alex Pravda (Souede-Salameno Fellow, St. Antony's College)

Discussant: Roy Allison (University Lecturer, St. Antony's College)

“The Role of Multilateralism in Russian Policy in the Asia Pacific: Then and Now”

Robert Legvold (Marshall D. Shulman Professor Emeritus, Columbia University)

“Russia and China: Between Bilateralism and Multilateralism” (TBC)

Alexander Lukin (Vice President for Research and International Contacts of the Diplomatic Academy, the Ministry of Foreign Affairs of the Russian Federation)

12:45 – 14:00 Lunch Break (at a reserved table in Hall)

14:00 – 17:15 Session 2: Strategic Relations among Emerging Powers in Eurasia

Panel Chair: Javier Morales (Visiting Fellow, St. Antony's College)

“Russia-China-India: Triangular Diplomacy and Two level Games”

Peter Ferdinand (Professor, University of Warwick)

“Russia and Asia-Pacific Regionalism: from the Perspective of the Russian Far East”

Mihoko Kato (Visiting Fellow, St. Antony's College)

“China: A Re-emerging Power Straddling Central and East Asia”

Christopher Len (Executive Editor, China and Eurasia Forum Quarterly; Research Fellow, Institute for Security and Development Policy, Stockholm, Sweden)

16:10 – 16:30 Tea Break

16:30 – 17:15 Concluding Discussion

Co-sponsored by the Russian and Eurasian Studies Centre, St. Antony's College, the Slavic Research Centre,
Hokkaido University, Japan & Japan Society for the Promotion of Science